

EXTENDED WARRANTY

July 03, 2006

The Iowa Department of Revenue today published a declaratory order saying that extended warranties are "sales of personal property" subject to sales tax to the same extent as the property being warranted.

The order, issued to Caterpillar, says that while extended warranties can be subject to sales tax, they are exempt if they are sold on a property that is itself exempt.